

33. Slayer of VBITRA, thou art the drinker of these Soma juices₃ come with thy steeds to our effused libation.¹

34. ²May INDRA bring to us the
bounteous EIBHU EiBHUKSHANA³ to partake of our sacrificial viands ;
may he, the mighty, bring the mighty (

ANUVAKA X.

ADHYAYA VI. CONTINUED.

I. (XCIY.)

The deities are the M[^]RTJTS ; the Risld is YIXDTT or PUTIDAKSIEA
of the family of AXGIE[^]S ; the metre is Gdyatri.

1. ⁴The cow⁵ (PRisxi), the food-desiring mother of the wealthy MARUTS, drinks (the Soma),—she is worthy of all honour, [^]rfo yokes (the mares) to their
chariots[^]

2, She, in whose presence all the gods observe
their functions, and the sun and moon move in peace
to enlighten the world.

¹ Sama Yeda, II. 9. 1. 10. 3.

² Sama Yeda, I. 3. 1. 1. 6.

³ Ilibhukshana was the eldest and Yaja the youngest of the three brothers. The Ilibhus have a share in the evening
libation between Prajapati and Savitri, see Ait.
Brahm. iii. 30.

This verse is addressed to the Ribhus in the evening libation on the ninth day of the Dvradasilhii ceremony (/&. v. 21 l.

⁴ Sama Veda, 1. 2. 2. 1. 5.

⁵ CL i. 23. 10: ii. :34. 2, etc.